Davie Group Recording.

August 15, 1966

I discussed this matter with Paul Kavanagh after he returned from the Yukon and he apparently does not wish to record this group. I can sympathize with this decision in the light of the work done to date. It is always possible that mineralization other than massive sulphides does occur on the group but it would be rather tricky to pin this down. Another problem is that I would not, in the light of present knowledge, know which claims to retain. You can therefore forget about recording any portion of the Davie Group.
