

The image shows a dark, layered geological specimen, possibly a rock or fossil, with a ruler placed above it for scale. The ruler has two scales: a centimetre scale at the top and an inch scale below it. The specimen is dark and shows distinct horizontal layering or foliation. There are some lighter, possibly mineralized areas on the left side of the specimen. The ruler is white with black markings and text. The specimen is resting on a wooden surface.

CENTIMETRE

INCH